

Harry S. Truman kept fit for the strain of the Presidency by walking a mile every morning at a pace newsmen found difficult to follow.